Where can I find the other Skills for Care RM webinars on wellbeing?

During the webinar, the phrase 'moral injury' was used. Can you provide more information about this as this is a new term for me.

Arabella Kurtz, Clinical Lead, Stronger Together Wellbeing Hub Northamptonshire - Moral injury relates to when you have to do things in your job, which violate your moral code (your values). The term first originated in the military, and it has been used for workers in social care and health during the pandemic.

'Moral injury can occur when someone engages in, fails to prevent, or witnesses acts that conflict with their values or beliefs and when they experience betrayal by trusted others especially when this is perceived as avoidable, or they are powerless to change it.'

There hasn't been enough recognition on registered managers during the pandemic and it has been a very difficult time for us, to keep staff going and motivated.

At Skills for Care, we offer lots of support and resources for registered managers, which we hope you find useful. Please refer to our website for more information.

It is worth noting that Skills for Care has 150 local Registered Manager Networks, which are available across the country and were set up to support registered managers in their role. For more information or to find your local network, please visit here.

When is the next compassionate leadership course being run?

The course referred to during the webinar was area specific in Northamptonshire as a local collaboration with the Stronger Together Northamptonshire Wellbeing Hub and the Skills for Care Northamptonshire Registered Manager network. We plan to share the learning on our website; however, we'd be interested to know if others would find this useful.
